

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ANALYST II

DEFINITION

Under supervision, performs a variety of customer service functions in the Community Development Department, which includes the Planning, Building Inspection, and Code Enforcement divisions. The Community Development Analyst advises the public on a variety of regulatory requirements; performs routine and technical work, both at the public counter and in the back office; answers inquiries related to building codes, remodeling and repair requirements, development regulations, general plan policies, permit procedures and schedules; performs preliminary review of plans and specifications; reviews, tracks, and processes applications; issues building permits; calculates and collects fees; prepares and assists in administering grant applications, including periodic reporting for the Local Transportation Commission's overall work program; participates on project teams in planning studies, environmental reviews, community design, and general plan preparation; assists with planning policy formulation and implementation; and performs other work as required.

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS

This is the journey level classification in the Community Development Analyst class series. This professional class is distinguished from the Community Development Analyst I position in that it requires broader, data collection, research, analysis, staff report preparation, public presentations, and technical field services than incumbents in the other professional classes, requiring the incumbent to be knowledgeable and work in a broad scope of tasks and projects. Incumbents in this class are expected to be cross-trained in all areas of community development permits and processes. This class is distinguished from the Community Development Analyst III in that the latter either exercises technical and functional team leadership.
